It's part of a family of four classifications according to purpose, along with Classifications of Individual Consumption According to Purpose (COICOP), the Classification of the Purpose of Non-profit Institutions Serving Households (COPNI), and the Classification of the Outlays of Producers According to Purpose (COPP). COFOG was first published in 1980 and revised in 1999. It was approved by the United Nations Statistical Commission at its thirtieth session in March 1999. Despite changes in government policy and socio-economic objectives, there has been no revision of the COFOG categorization since. The United Nations Statistical Commission recommended revising the Classification of Functions of Government (COFOG) and assessing whether other classifications need to be changed. The revision will be carried out under the auspices of the United Nations Committee of Experts on International Statistical Classifications. A task team has been established to revise COFOG, following the approval of its terms of reference by the Statistical Commission at its fifty-fifth session. What is COFOG? COFOG is a classification of transactions that can be applied to general government and its subsectors. The current version of the COFOG classification has ten divisions: 01 General public services 02 Defence 03 Public order and safety 04 Economic affairs 05 Environmental protection 06 Housing and community amenities 07 Health 08 Recreation, culture and religion 09 Education 10 Social protection These divisions are further broken down into more detailed groups, which again are divided into classes. At the most detailed level, classes are indicated whether the expenditure is related to collective services or individual services. Initial List of Revision Issue Category The task team has submitted proposed issues for consideration in the The current COFOG proposal has been organized into 21 initial revision issue categories under two main groupings: A01-A15. The first grouping includes A01-General public services, A02-Defence, and A03-Public order and safety, while the second grouping includes A04-Economic affairs, A05-Environmental protection, and other thematic issues. These proposals have been further sub-divided into 9 sub-groups to provide clarity and specificity.The revised COFOG proposal also includes B1-COFOG structure/classification principles, B2-Primary/secondary purpose, B3-Additional uses of COFOG, and B4-Compilation issues. Additionally, B5-Individual/collective expenditure, B6-Internal consistency with other classifications of expenditure according to purpose, and B7-Alignment with other classifications/frameworks are also included in the revised proposal.The global consultation on the initial list of issues was conducted from November 2024 to January 2025. The feedback received during this consultation period will contribute significantly to the finalization of the list of issues. Five working groups have been established under the Task Team to advance the initial revision issues, including:A-Economic and public affairs (A01-A04)B- Environment (A05, B7)C- Social and demographic (A06-A10)D- Cross-cutting issues (A11-A15)E- Classification principles and cross-classification issues (B1-B6)These working groups will discuss the related revision issues and develop proposals/recommendations for consideration by the wider Task Team. The revised COFOG proposal will be coordinated with other macroeconomic standards, including the update of the Government Financial Statistics Manual (GFSM) and the System of Environmental-Economic Accounting (SEEA).
