If you like the second line, leave a review in the App Store! Do not hesitate to contact our support team through the app for any question or suggestion. Aaron M. of the support was fantastic! I created a second line that I listed as RSVP number for my imminent wedding and I started a free trial and I thought it would be charged a charge after making the account had recorded me and that I was charged to me sending numbered invitations. I contacted customer support thinking of receiving an answer within a few days. After a minute from the sending of my e-mail I thought of what was not going, Aaron M replied and helped me immediately and was able to restore my number. You saved me from a series of chaos. I appreciate how fast and efficient it is. Thank you. We are so happy that Aaron was able to help you so quickly! Thanks for choosing the second series! Unfortunately, I have had this practice for many years as a business line. It has always been unreliable, but cheaper than paying for a real second phone. Recently, he has not sent my message with a new text notice and the "ends message" function \(which is the entire reason I received the app\) says it is not available when I try to use it. Customer support is not useful. They are trying to make my fault seem like. They just tell me to download the app \(as I have already tried\) or should work. Now I finally had to get a real second phone with a truly reliable operator, but we all know that it is difficult to change the number when you have a job and everyone has an old phone \(which is why I stayed on this app for so long\). Thank you for making my life difficult, line 2.0 stars. I don't recommend it! I am really enjoying the second season. I receive calls and messages from the same phone that I use for my main line and I can notice the difference. You can set the working hours in your work line, so if you do not want people to call you after a certain time, they will be forwarded directly to your professional vocal box, which you can set or leave automatically. I highly recommend this app to anyone who needs a second line and not one more phone.
